Lancashire's school for deaf children

Dear Parents

Anti – Bullying Week

In response to an incident that occurred last week we have decided to hold a whole school week on Anti – Bullying.

The behaviour of all our pupils is generally good and they are supportive, generous and kind to each other. However, from time to time things may happen in school that remind us all that we need to be alert and sensitive to certain behaviours that may escalate if we should do nothing.

For this reason, we are taking the opportunity to work with all our children on the theme of Anti- Bullying to remind them of how we expect all our pupils at Royal Cross to behave to each other.

The children will be having whole school assemblies and activities in class to explore and discuss this.

It would a good opportunity for families to look at this together. If you could make the time to sit with your child and to discuss how they think they should 'Stand up to Bullying' and jot down their ideas on the paper provided we would be very grateful. The children will also be doing this activity in school to help generate ideas.

To help with this I will be handing out 'Headteacher' stickers and 5 House points to encourage the children to bring back their ideas to share with me in school!

We have also put links on the school web site to help families at home. You can find these links in NEWS and in the CALENDAR links.

Thank you for your support in this
